

Instant Airline Schedule Delivery Get schedule changes to the market faster than ever before

Changes in the marketplace require rapid response

Ensuring that your airline's schedule changes are available to your distribution channels is vital to your business. Airlines around the world need to react quickly to changes in demand, resulting in frequent and unpredictable changes to schedule and network plans. But while schedule changes happen throughout the day, most data exchange processes occur only at specific times, meaning the rest of the sales channel struggles to stay in sync. The result? Lost bookings, costly re-bookings and less satisfied or lost customers.

Introducing: OAG Schedules Dynamic — A revolution in distribution

OAG Dynamic offers the fastest schedule change delivery process in the industry, providing accurate schedules at the points of sale immediately as changes occur throughout the day. OAG Dynamic offers instant synchronisation across multiple sales channels, helping airlines to boost sales, maximise efficiencies and gain a competitive advantage..

Put OAG Schedules Dynamic to work for your airline

Airlines can take advantage of the power of OAG Dynamic by sending schedule changes to OAG as frequently as possible, in the format of your choice. Our system is so flexible, that's all you need to do. OAG will take care of the rest.

And, talk to your distribution partners to make sure they are connected with OAG Dynamic; it's the key to ensuring that your schedules updates are immediately available to your customers.

OAG Schedules Dynamic delivers:

- Instant synchronisation across multiples sales channels
- Immediate sales opportunities
- Competitive advantage because your flights are available for sale ahead of your competitors
- Increased sales, new customers and improved customer satisfaction

OAG Schedules Dynamic works by:

- Immediately identifying schedule changes regardless of how the data is submitted to OAG
- Instantly reformatting the schedule changes ready for distribution
- Delivering the changes directly into the sales channels — instantly

Innovation from a name you trust

Companies throughout the travel industry trust OAG for information with unparalleled integrity. Schedule changes are distributed only after they have passed OAG's stringent validation process. And because we actively partner with airlines, you can be sure that OAG schedules data is the best available.